Emma Rayko

Emma Rayko is a member of the Whitefish Lake First Nation. In Emma's early years she lived with her grandparents, Evangeline and Erastus. As a young girl with her kokum, Emma learned about the collection of wild herbs for medicine and the practice of being a community midwife. Unfortunately, this time with kokum ended when Emma was forced to attend Indian Residential School.

At 18 years of age, Emma conspired with the Nurse on Whitefish Lake Reserve to move to Medicine Hat where the Nurse's sister worked as a Matron in the hospital. During the morning, Emma attended classes at Medicine Hat hospital to train as a Baby Catcher and in the afternoon, she trained in the Maternity Ward.

Eventually Emma was homesick and wished to be closer to home, so once again, this Matron assisted Emma to transfer to Edmonton for work at the Charles Camsell Indian Hospital. In this hospital, Emma worked as a Ward Aide in the Tuberculosis wards of the Inuit and Northern Indigenous Peoples. She also worked in the surgery ward and was responsible for handing the surgeons the surgical tools they requested. Another unrelated medical duty assigned to Emma was to be the translator for Cree Speakers.

In time Emma married and moved first to St. Paul where she worked at the St. Paul Hospital. Years later the family moved to Lac La Biche and she found employment at the local hospital. In these hospitals, her roles included either a Baby Catcher, a Ward Aide, equipment sterilizer, and/or cleaner. Interesting enough, while Emma was trained early on with her kokum as a midwife, her work in St. Paul had her delivering babies on her own when the Doctors were unavailable, and the nurses were busy. Talk about coming full circle. After 25 years of nursing service Emma decided to leave this field.

It was then that Emma turned to Counselling. For six years she worked at the J.A. Williams High School as a Native Counsellor. One day an opportunity opened at the Beaver Lake Wah-Pow Detox and Treatment Centre and Emma took the leap. She trained with Nechi Institute as an Addictions Counsellor. She worked her way up from Addictions Counsellor to Family Counsellor, then Program Coordinator. Many adults have been touched by their interactions with Emma.

In the mid-seventies Emma started working as a volunteer with community groups in Lac La Biche. She ran the Lac La Biche Pow-Wow Bingo for approximately 25 years. When the bingo hall was built in Lac La Biche, many clubs had Emma as one of their volunteers. Emma was asked to start up and run the local Food Bank, which she did as a volunteer. As busy as she was as a volunteer, Emma loved spending time with her children, grandchildren, gardening, crocheting, and playing bingo. Emma's motto has always been to "give back to your community".

For our Portage College community, Emma certainly has been true to her words and has been an incredibly consistent volunteer. Her dedication to our College is demonstrated in the ways that she has made herself available to all of us. Whether that be sharing her lived experiences, providing elder support, or volunteering many years with us. This year we celebrated our 20th Annual Round Dance and Emma was there with us. It is with much heartfelt gratitude that we say, Thank you Emma.

Tammy Janvier

Tammy Janvier, a member of Cold Lake First Nations, serves as the coordinator of Employment and Training for the Nation. Tammy faced many unique challenges growing up, such as having kids at a young age and dropping out of school. Tammy chose to focus on her family, giving her kids the best shot at life she could with a home, healthy food, clothing, love and everything they needed while teaching them the importance of hard work and determination.

Tammy's journey led her back to school, both to provide for her family and find more gainful employment. Tammy attributes her success here to some key mentors along the way, who taught her to take control of her life and career. This eventually led to her obtaining a Criminal Justice Diploma, although her brother's suicide redirected her career path. Empathizing with police about being the bearer of bad news following her brother's death, Tammy decided she wanted to change her career path. She decided to pursue a helping profession that supported people to move beyond welfare and take control of their lives, in the same way her mentors did for her. She found her calling in helping others through various community service roles, including Literacy Coordinator, Lunch Program Coordinator, Shelter Worker, and Outreach Worker. Eventually, Tammy returned to her community, working in Employment and Training, where she has been ever since.

According to Tammy, "There is little greater achievement in life than helping others. Some of the ways I've helped was as simple as taking the time to listen to someone who like my younger self just doesn't know, encourage them that they can, dream big and support them how I can, drive them to training or even to work when their vehicle is broke down, or working well after hours on training initiatives for programs so the participants are supported, learning and well on their way to their bright future." With a passion for creating quality training opportunities, Tammy has significantly contributed to increased employment and career development for Nation members. Tammy's flexibility and support have made her an invaluable partner in delivering engaging and needed programming with Portage College.

Tammy's journey has been marked by resilience and a commitment to healing, both for herself and her community. She believes in empowering others, providing support, and encouraging them to dream big. Her efforts have led to numerous success stories, proving her impact as a transformative leader. Her greatest achievements are reflected in the successes of those she has helped along the way. Through her tireless dedication, Tammy continues to make a significant difference in the lives of many, embodying the spirit of perseverance and empowerment.

Boyer, David

“During our lifetimes, it’s important to step back and marvel at all the events that made us what we are today. The small joys and distresses have been life-changing and it’s important to give yourself a pat on the back for coming this far. It’s also equally important in having faith in yourself to achieve even more success in the future.”
